We've heard about Boogie Fever, but a Dancing Plague? It sounds unbelievable, but that's exactly what happened to the residents of Strasbourg, France, back in 1518. It began with one woman named Frau Troffea. She took to the streets one hot, July day and just started dancing in a frenzy of twists and twirls.

Strange Events in History - The Dancing Plague of 1518

The dancing plague swiftly took over the city. It was said that about 30 people quickly took her place and began dancing with "mindless intensity" in both public halls and private homes, unable to stop themselves just like Troffea. Eventually, reports say that as many as 400 people began dancing in the streets at the dancing plague's peak.
